ABOUT THE AUTHOR/INSTRUCTOR

Michael P. Airaudi, MSM, PMP, PMI-BA, PMI-ACP, CSM, SAF4

My project management journey began in the 1980s working for Cray Research, Inc. in Eagan, MN. Shortly thereafter, I began applying project management principles to other career endeavors. After relocating to Texas in 1997, I became the V.P. of Marketing for a small project management consulting company in Austin, and then went on as the Manager of Project Managers, and help establish a Project Management Office as the Sr. Project Officer at the Texas Department of Human Services. In 2001, I launched PM Mentors as a small, part time business. In 2004, we incorporated and have continued to teach project management classes for colleges, universities, government/military, consulting firms and major corporations ever since. We incorporated PM Mentors, Limitada in 2012, where we built a self-sustaining “City on a Hill” in the beautiful mountains of Costa Rica. We are currently located in the Austin, TX area.
